Kirkland Museum of Fine & Decorative Art

is dedicated to promoting Colorado's distinguished art history. The museum is rediscovering, documenting, collecting, preserving and exhibiting Colorado artists, primarily from 1875 to 1980, and holds the estate of Vance Kirkland (1904-1981) as its foundation. Colorado fine and decorative art are shown in context with one of the most important national and international decorative art collections from 1880 to 1980 in North America. The museum serves as a resource to scholars and the general public through exhibitions, the loan of works, public programs, lectures, tours, publications and the assembling of permanent archives.
